NO HOPE FOR THEM.

The Entombed Bohemian Miners Can Not Be Saved.

OVER A HUNDRED LIVES LOST.

Those That Were Not Killed By the Explosion Must Have Been Suffocated By the After Damp—Cholera Spreading. Dispatches From Across the Ocean.

VIENNA, Jan. 26.—All hope of rescuing alive the men who were entombed by the explosion of firedamp in the Fortschritt mine at Dux, Bohemia, Tuesday, has been abandoned. An investigation of the list of employes reveals the fact that 130 men lost their lives in the disaster, as it is generally conceded that those who were not killed by the explosion must have been suffocated by the afterdamp. The mine is being cleared of the wreckage, but the work is necessarily slow. Every effort will be made to recover the bodies of the dead.

Many pitiable and heartrending scenes were witnessed about the mouth of the shaft when it was announced by the mine officials that beyond a shadow of doubt every man in the mine was dead. No explanation has been made as to how the explosion occurred.

An immense quantity of afterdamp has accumulated in the mine. Late yesterday afternoon, while a party of rescuers were at work, the gas filled the mine so rapidly that every man of the party had to flee for his life. It is absolutely impossible to enter the mine.

Great Britain Must Explain.

PARIS, Jan. 26.—The French press continues to display deep indignation regarding the attitude assumed by England in Egypt. The Debats says that the action of England in Egypt is a direct provocation to France and that Great Britain must explain her intentions.

The Figaro says that France ought to retaliate for England's course by occupying Tangiers.

The Republique Francaise declares that Europe will not allow the khedive to become a blind vassal of England.

A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says that France has asked the British government for an explanation as to the increase of the British army of occupation in Egypt.

The Marquis of Dufferin, British ambassador, has delivered to the French government a note as to the increase of the British garrison in Egypt. He assures the government that the increase does not imply any modification of previous assurances in regard to the conditions of the British occupation, or any change in the policy heretofore pursued by Great Britain.

M. Waddington, French ambassador in London, has been instructed to ask the Earl of Rosebery, British secretary of state for foreign affairs, to specify the incidents in Egypt which have caused Great Britain to take the recent extraordinary steps.

Cholera Spreading.

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—A dispatch from Halle states that thirteen new cases of cholera and one death from the disease are reported from the Niedtbeben lunatic asylum. At Trothe, where the disease appeared Tuesday, four new cases and one death occurred yesterday.

PIERS AT CULLOM'S RIFLES.

Cincinnati Rivermen's Scheme to Form an Ice Harbor.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 25.—A reporter interviewed nearly twenty of the leading coal merchants and rivermen of the city to ascertain their views in relation to the proposed ice piers. They are all in favor of placing three piers at "Cullom's Riffles," five miles below the city.

At that point the government has constructed a long dike to turn the channel on to the Kentucky side of the river. This dike just appears above the surface of the river at a five-foot stage, and coal boats can pass over it at a moderately high stage of water. Behind the dike is a large bayou, one and one-half miles long, in which half of the barges and boats at Cincinnati can be floated.

It is proposed by the rivermen to have three piers erected on this dike, thirty feet high and fifty feet apart, and thus to form a shelter from the ice for all craft that choose to seek the place.

The plan has the one favorable feature that it does not block up the waters of the river opposite Cincinnati.

It is understood that the rivermen will advocate this scheme in preference to the others proposed.

The committee appointed at the citizens' meeting in the board of trade rooms last Monday to draft resolutions requesting an immediate government appropriation for the protection of Cincinnati shipping from the ice met Tuesday evening, with Mayor Mosby present, and resolved that in view of the $500,000 worth of river property destroyed recently, the committee send Captain James D. Parker and six others to Washington at once to present to Congress the condition of river affairs, and to urge the speedy adoption of relief measures.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Jan. 26.—At 7 o'clock yesterday morning the large sawmill of G. W. Favors & Company, at Upatoe, near Columbus, was blown into atoms by the explosion of the boiler of the engine. Two persons were killed, three fatally injured and four seriously hurt. Those killed were: Will Griffin, about fourteen years old, and Titus Heath, a negro. The fatally wounded were Sandy Tinsley, John Grant and Aaron Watson. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

WINTER WHEAT.

In Fair Condition in Many States and Few Bad Reports.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—The Farmers' Review says:

Reports have been received from the correspondents in twelve states on the condition of winter wheat and on the condition and movement of cattle. In Illinois winter wheat is in fair to good condition generally. About 18 per cent. of the correspondents, however, report that in their counties the stand was rather weak when winter set in, and, in one or two instances, it was feared the wheat had been injured by the severe cold weather before the blanket of snow came. A part of this poor condition at the present time is due to the slowness of the plant in getting a start, and later conditions may operate to entirely repair the damage. The condition of cattle is everywhere good. There are few cattle being marketed.

In Indiana about 70 per cent. of the correspondents report the condition of wheat as good, 12 per cent. report fair and the rest poor. This is the condition in which it went into winter quarters, since which there has been little change. Cattle are in good condition, but very few are being shipped, taking the state as a whole.

In Michigan the winter wheat is in good condition in most of the counties reporting. In a few of the counties the crop has not recovered from the effects of the ravages of the fly reported last fall. This loss of condition, however, will amount to very little, when taken in connection with the condition of the crop throughout the state. Cattle are in good condition, but few are being marketed.

In Kentucky the wheat crop is not up to the condition reported in the preceding states. The correspondents do not generally report it much above 75 per cent. of an average. In half of the counties cattle are reported to be in good condition, and in the other half the condition is fair. In Missouri wheat is not in a desirable condition. It is reported about evenly at good, fair, poor.

In a number of the counties the wheat is reported injured by the hard freezing and the lack of snow. In other counties the snow came after the wheat was frozen, but did not cover it to a sufficient depth to prevent further injury. In others the drouth of last fall did damage to the plant from which it has not yet recovered. Cattle are in good condition throughout the state, but the movement is very slow.

In Kansas the winter wheat is generally reported good, but some report only fair. The whole state has been under a good blanket of snow nearly all winter, and this promises a good crop, even in those localities where it now appears uncertain. Cattle are in good condition, with little or no movement.

In Nebraska half of the counties report condition good, nearly half fair, and two report poor. In most of the counties the condition is similar to that in Kansas, the state being mostly covered with snow. Cattle are in good condition with small movement.

In Iowa the crop of winter wheat is in good condition. Cattle are also good, with little movement. The same is true of wheat in Wisconsin and what little is grown in Minnesota and South Dakota. The cattle in all five states, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and the two Dakotas, are in generally good condition, but few are being sent to the market. The cattle that are being marketed are being taken mostly by the local trade.

ITALY AND BRAZIL.

A Little War Likely to Occur Between These Two Countries.

ROME, Jan. 26.—Signor Tungini, the Italian minister to Brazil, has been instructed to demand of the Brazilian government satisfaction for the outrages committed last summer upon Italian sailors and residents at Santos during a riot which occurred there.

The Italian minister has several times urged upon the Brazilian government the justice of granting compensation and redress for the injurings inflicted upon the Italian sailors. The Italian government has lost patience at last, and Signor Tungini is instructed that unless satisfaction is given promptly, Italy will sustain her demands by force.

The riots took place in July, 1892, and was between natives and Italians. The Brazilian police had maltreated some Italian sailors and the Italian residents held a meeting on the evening of July 3 to protest against the outrage. After the meeting the Italians formed into a procession and paraded the streets. This incensed the natives, who attacked the paraders. A riot ensued, which lasted all night and far into the next day, July 4. The office of the Italian journal, Romau, was wrecked.

SELLING THE INDIANS WHISKY.

Two Different Tribes Put on the War Paint and Indulge in a Battle.

RHINELANDER, Wis., Jan. 26.—At Eagle River, a small lumbering town in this county, a band of Chippewas and Potowatomi Indians were encamped yesterday. They filled up on poor whisky and put on their war paint. A battle ensued, in which three of the Potowatomes were killed and several Chippewas were seriously injured.

There is a large Indian population in this section of the state and saloon keepers have openly violated the law in selling liquor to them. The marshals have been very active lately, and a number of raids have been made on saloon men in this county for selling liquor to the Indians.

Result of a Saloon Raid.

CANTON, O., Jan. 26.—Ellis Miller, of Cairo, who was injured in a fight with George McCommon in a saloon at New Berlin, is reported dying. His assailant is under arrest.

CAUSED BY CATS.

NARROW ESCAPE OF INMATES.

Two Sick Men Almost Suffocated Before Being Rescued From the Burning Building—Big Summer Hotel Destroyed—Firemen Hurt at a Chicago Fire—Other Fire Losses.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—A fire broke out in the Actors' club house at 43 West Eighth street at an early hour yesterday morning. Two tomcats were fighting fiercely in the harbor shop in the basement and during the battle overturned an oil stove, which set the place afire. The building is a four-story brown stone house, and sleeping in it at the time the flames broke forth were C. M. Remington and Thomas A. Wise, of the Gloriana company; Wharry Hawk, H. C. Smart, Percy Howard, Wemyss Henderson, son of the Chicago opera house, and William H. Daly, the well known stage manager.

In Michigan the winter wheat is in good condition in most of the counties reporting. In a few of the counties the crop has not recovered from the effects of the ravages of the fly reported last fall. This loss of condition, however, will amount to very little, when taken in connection with the condition of the crop throughout the state. Cattle are in good condition, but few are being marketed.

Mr. Daly and Mr. Howard were sick, the former being helpless in bed from rheumatism. The only man awake at the time was Barber Gallate, who unsuccessfully endeavored to extinguish the blaze, which had gotten a good headway when the firemen arrived. The firemen found Manager Daly and Mr. Howard in their beds and carried them to the roof. They were badly choked by smoke and Mr. Daly suffered greatly. Policeman Ahearn was imprisoned in the building and jumped from a second-story window, receiving severe injuries. The two cats were saved. Loss, $2,500.

HOTEL BURNED.

Thirty People Have a Narrow Escape from Death.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The Grandview, a summer hotel at Fort Hamilton, caught fire at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The flames spread with frightful rapidity, and at 2:30 the building fell in. The hotel was built six years ago, and had accommodations for about 500 guests. It had eight stories, fronting on the bay. The extent of the loss and insurance can not yet be given.

About thirty people, who make the hotel their residence throughout the year, were asleep at the time, but were quickly aroused, and nearly all were enabled to escape without injury; several of them, however, delayed their flight in order to save valuables, and were compelled to jump from the first balcony. One man, whose escape was shut off in all directions, jumped into the water from the rear of the hotel, but was rescued.

Firemen Injured.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Shortly after 12 o'clock yesterday morning fire broke out in W. E. Frost's planing mill at the southeast corner of Canal and Twelfth streets. After burning about an hour the east wall of the building fell, burying three firemen, and two others were badly hurt by an explosion of gas in one of the cisterns. The building was entirely consumed. The loss will be about $30,000, with $28,000 insurance. One of the firemen will probably die.

Business Houses Burned.

RUTLAND, Vt., Jan. 26.—The fire at Fairhaven was a very destructive one. It swept through the business portion of the town. Most of the leading business houses, over a dozen in number, were destroyed. The fire department was helpless owing to frozen hydrants. The loss is $75,000.

Boston Blaze.

BOSTON, Jan. 26.—Fire yesterday destroyed the upper portion of the building 31 to 35 Union street, occupied by the Walker & Pratt Manufacturing company as a stove and heating apparatus factory and warerooms. Loss $100,000; insured.

Three People Fatally Burned.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Thomas Larkin, his wife and five-year-old son Hugh, were severely and perhaps mortally burned at their home, 636 Franklin street, Brooklyn, Saturday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Larkin found the child rolling on the kitchen floor and enveloped in flames. They succeeded in putting out the flames, but not before they themselves were badly burned. Ambulance Surgeon Homes, who dressed the wounds, said that all three of them might die. The child was burned mostly about the breast and arms. The child is supposed to have been playing with matches when its clothing caught fire.

The Treasury's Condition.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Secretary Foster sent to Chairman Springer yesterday the report of the condition of the treasury as called for by the investigating committee. The excess of receipts over expenditures for the first six months of the present fiscal year was but $3,843,209. The cash in the treasury, including gold reserve, July, 1892, was $1,327,000,000, and Dec. 3, 1892, $129,000,000. Secretary Foster estimates that there will be an available excess, June 30, 1894, of $53,000,000.

A Steamship Overdue.

BOSTON, Jan. 26.—Considerable anxiety is felt at the office of the Furness steamship line over the non-arrival of the steamship Stockholm City, which sailed from London Jan. 1. Even with the bad weather the steamer should have arrived at least four or five days ago. The Stockholm City is commanded by Captain Thompson, manned by the usual crew of a freight steamer, and carried a general cargo. She has not been reported since sailing.

Result of a Saloon Raid.

CANTON, O., Jan. 26.—Ellis Miller, of Cairo, who was injured in a fight with George McCommon in a saloon at New Berlin, is reported dying. His assailant is under arrest.

HOBBY CRIMES.

A Double Murder Followed Immediately by a Lynching.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 26.—One of the most horrible crimes ever committed here occurred yesterday evening, and resulted in a woman's throat being cut from ear to ear, a man being murdered and another being lynched. The crime took place in the Fifth district of this city, which is far off from the thickly settled neighborhoods.

Mrs. Martin McMahon, an aged woman, keeps a grocery at the corner of Atlantic and Pacific avenues. She sometimes hired a negro ex-convict named Fisher. Yesterday evening she sent the negro on an errand. She expressed displeasure at a trifling purchase he had made for her. The negro without warning reached over to where a large meat knife was, and, taking it up, rushed for the woman. He caught her by her hair and cut her throat.

The woman's screams attracted the attention of a white man who ran to her assistance. The negro fled, jumping back fence and hiding in an out-house of another dwelling. In the meantime the noise had brought John Barrett, a fireman, to the scene. He caught the negro, but like a flash the latter turned and stabbed him three times, killing him instantly.

By this time, the entire neighborhood had been aroused and men armed with every kind of weapon came upon the scene and after several shots had been fired at the negro the crowd quickly got a rope and with cries of "hang him before he dies" dragged him into the yard and strung him up.

Mrs. McMahon is dangerously wounded.

CRONKHITE'S DEFALCATION.

It is a Very Serious Matter With His Bondsmen.

ATTICA, Ind., Jan. 26.—The defalcation of Augustus Cronkite is a serious matter, not only with the bondsmen, but with the people, the vaults being empty and necessitating the borrowing of money for a year or two. Yesterday the commissioners arranged for borrowing $20,000. There are thirty bondsmen, of whom fifteen will have to bear the bulk of the burden, seven of the others being worthless financially, while eight will be penniless long before they meet their proportion.

Cronkite was not a speculator, but he had an unfathomable mania for making investments. Whenever he heard of property for sale he was always in the market at any price, and when the property was secured he at once began to lavish money in improvements. His 40 acre farm in Steuben township was increased to 800 acres in four years, and during the last year he put in more fencing than all the rest of the farms in the township. His property is nearly all owned by himself and wife jointly, and it cost $60,000, with half that mortgage covering it.

It is stated by a close friend that he has an investment in the plate-glass factory at Marion, but as this is not definitely known the probable amount is not included in his assets. Peter Fleming filed his bond yesterday in $200,000, and has assumed charge of the office.

LAMAR'S FUNERAL.

All Arrangements Made for the Sad Occasion.

MACON, Ga., Jan. 26.—The funeral of the late Justice Lamar will take place in this city tomorrow afternoon. The local bar will meet in the superior court room tomorrow morning to hear eulogies on the deceased, which will be delivered by several prominent lawyers of this and other cities.

The body of the dead jurist is now lying in state at the house where he died, in Vineville, and will remain there until 11 o'clock Friday morning, when it will be taken to the Mulberry street church, where Bishop Fitzgerald, Dr. Chandler, of Emory college, and Dr. Block, pastor of the church, will conduct the ceremony. Every carriage in the city has been engaged for the funeral.

L. Q. C. Lamar, Jr., son of the deceased, arrived yesterday afternoon, and his daughter will arrive today.

A message was received yesterday from President-elect Cleveland saying that it would be impossible for him to attend the funeral.

The members of the United States supreme court with the supreme court of Georgia arrived this morning, and were met by a committee of twelve, representing the Macon bar.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For Tennessee and Kentucky, fair, colder; cold wave by Thursday night; easterly shifting to northerly winds.

PRESIDENT-ELECT CLEARLAND generally does the right thing. Republican papers most everywhere are praising his "gracious and graceful conduct at the funeral of ex-President Hayes."

Does the new editor of the Covington Commonwealth get his cue from the Courier-Journal "gang"? Of late, his paper generally lines up on the side of the Louisville crowd. It looks suspicious.

THE Campbell County grand jury has at last taken a hand in the police muddle at Newport. Chief Cottingham was indicted yesterday for usurping the office. Now let the courts do their duty, and give the usurper a quietus.

J. J. OSBORNE, Winfield Buckler, Mason E. Wheeler, Judge N. A. Tilton, H. L. Wilson, Charles B. Morford, W. H. Tilton and Senator Kenton are all spoken of as prospective candidates in Robinson County for the Legislature. Have all the precincts reported?

The River.

There has been but little change in the stage of the river at this point since yesterday—rising very slowly. The water is appearing in places on the ice, but it still holds firm.

If this weather continues, the break-up will come in a few days.

It would be well for parents to keep their children off the ice, and for everybody to be on their guard.

MASON COUNTY TEACHERS.

Programme of the Next Meeting of Their Association, to be Held February 4.

The Mason County Teachers' Association will hold the regular meeting in this city February 4, at the High School Building, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m. The committee have prepared the following programme and suggest that those to whom subjects are assigned prepare papers to be read before the association:

1. Evils Which Exist in our Schools and Remedy for the Same—Professor J. H. Rowland.

2. The Educational Value of a Subject.

3. Does a Boy "Understand" the Law of Atmospheric Pressure when he Lies down to Drink from a Spring? By What Power or Faculty then. Does He Know the Water will Rise into his Mouth in Opposition to the Force of Gravity?—Professor Jas. H. McGahan, Professor L. Woodward, alternate.

4. What General Fields or Departments of Study a Liberal Preparation for Teaching Ought to Include?—Professor J. W. Asbury.

5. Does the Will Exercise Control over the Action of the Perceptive Faculties? The Conceptive? the Cognitive? the Cogitative? What is Meant by Breaking a Child's Will? Is It Right or Wrong to Break a Child's Will?—Professor Ellsworth Swift.

6. At What Age Should a Child Commence the Study of Technical Grammar?

The teachers will be paid their salaries at the same time and place.

Superintendent Public Schools, M. C.

The Wires Under the Sea.

The world's submarine cables now measure about 143,011 nautical miles, in 1,168 sections. Different governments control 833 sections, or 13,388 miles, France claiming 3,269 miles, Great Britain 1,509, Germany 1,579, and Italy 1,027 miles. The remaining 335 cables, aggregating 129,628 miles, are owned by private companies. This great length of cable has been nearly all made on the banks of the Thames, but Italy now has a cable factory, and France will soon have two. To lay and repair the cables requires the constant service of a specially equipped fleet of thirty-seven vessels of 56,955 tons.—Ohio State Journal.

Sold Beds Besides Preaching.

An active pastor, who has now retired from both ministerial and commercial life, was for many years partner in an iron bedstead business, and was not ashamed. He was accustomed to boast that his connection with business enabled him to live in a good house, to dress his wife well, to educate his children, to keep a respectable table for his friends, to help the poor and to benefit the church, all of which was true.—National Review.

A Reply from Tennyson.

On one occasion it was publicly stated that Tennyson had drawn his inspiration from Horace and Keats, and a correspondent wrote to ask him if this were so. "No," he replied; "Horace and Keats were great masters, but not my masters."—New York Tribune.

LINDSAY.

The Lexington Press' Correspondent Thinks He's Certain to Win.

Some Views of the Senatorial Contest Now on at Frankfort—The Caucus.

Thursday, February 2, is the date fixed for the Democratic caucus to select a successor to Senator Carlisle. There are but two Lindsay men on the caucus committee, and the friends of Stone and McCreary did not want an early caucus.

The Daily Press of Lexington has a correspondent on the ground, and in a letter the night the caucus was fixed he says: "The decision of the committee is hailed with delight at McCreary headquarters, and is taken as a good omen in the fight. They hope by delay to succeed in changing some of the Lindsay men, and it is not improbable that an effort will be made to get up McCreary mass-meetings in a number of counties over the State whose Representative have declared for Lindsay to instruct them to vote for McCreary. The Courier-Journal aggregation of political wire-pullers has by no means despaired of electing McCreary and will conduct a most desperate and skillfully managed fight from now on to accomplish that result. If McCreary does not win it will not be because every means known to some of the shrewdest political schemers in the State have not been resorted to.

The Stone men are gratified at the committee's decision, for it gives the wind a little longer chance to blow their way.

The Lindsay men are naturally disappointed at the long postponement of the caucus. It will make no change in their front, however, they declare. Their column is solid and will remain steadfast, they say, against all the machinations of the Courier-Journal ringsters. They continue to claim Lindsay's nomination on the first ballot. No opposition will be made to the decision of the caucus committee. They are as confident as ever and only wanted the caucus held immediately because they knew that their man would win anyhow, and thought the sooner it was over with the better it would be for everybody.

My own impression about the postponement of the caucus is that it will not in any way weaken Lindsay. On the contrary, I believe it will strengthen him. His friends regard the late date as an injustice, and done in order to compass his defeat, and those who have been for him will now be more earnestly for him than ever. And then, too, it brings the Lindsay managers to the realization of the fact that they have a very hard fight before them, and to win means increasing and ever watchful labors from now until February 2, in order to keep their line intact and strengthen it as far as possible.

Notwithstanding the late date of the caucus it looks to me to-night even more like Lindsay than it did last night. The first attempt at counting noses and naming them at the same time was made to-day by the correspondent of the Louisville Post, which is taking no sides in the fight, with the following result: Lindsay 41, McCreary 41, Stone 17.

Several of the members, however, who are placed in the McCreary column will be found in the Lindsay column when the balloting begins. Without attempting to name the members and who they are for, I offer, after a very careful study of the situation, the following estimate of the present strength of each man: Lindsay 45, McCreary 35, Stone 19.

Enough of the Stone men are for Lindsay for second choice to elect him when Stone drops out, and I don't believe that Stone can throw them to McCreary. Not only that, but I believe that after a number of ballots have been taken and the Stone followers are satisfied that there is no possible chance for their man, a number of them will voluntarily leave him and cast their votes for Lindsay.

Their allegiance to Stone is not strong enough to impel them to stand by him indefinitely if by so doing it means an interminable deadlock with no chance for Stone.

Nor can McCreary's vote be transferred to Stone without loss. A number are for McCreary on account of location and when McCreary drops out will be for Lindsay.

I therefore see no chance whatever for either Stone or McCreary. Nor does there seem to be as much prospect now of a deadlock as several days ago, and without a deadlock Lindsay will certainly win as it looks now."

The Frankfort correspondent of the Louisville Commercial says: "The result of the caucus committee's action in overriding the will of the majority of the members of the caucus is rapidly proving itself an active business-like boomerang. In the first place, the Lindsay men made a show-down, and they had forty-nine men that could not be moved, and then two more—Bashaw and Gardner—members of the committee, making fifty-one, and besides these there are several absentees who are perfectly well known as straight-out Lindsay men. This shows several more than enough to nominate Judge Lindsay on the first ballot. But there were four members of the caucus committee who are opposed to Lindsay. They are Tony Carroll, John Welch, Harvey Myers and the Chairman, Senator Will Anderson. The anti-Lindsay committeemen wanted to put off the caucus to February 8, but the two stood out and finally got it fixed for February 2.

"There is a great deal of indignation on account of the caucus juggling, but Judge Lindsay's fine sense of honor induces him to submit rather than to seem to try to escape the consequences of an innocent act of his. It seems that at the beginning of the session Judge Lindsay moved that Senator Anderson be appointed to represent the Senate on the joint committee. Were the Senate fairly represented on that committee Judge Lindsay's friends would be in the majority, but the McCrearyites are willing to use the advantage which Judge Lindsay is too honorable to disallow. But the acquiescence of the Lindsay men is accompanied with a solemn protest, and when the country people hear of the $1,000-a-day delay, somebody will be sorry for this petty piece of political work. * * * All the talk about changes from one candidate to another are mainly moonshine. The lists stand. From the indications it looks like some changes to Lindsay.

The last announcement from Rolla Hart at the Lindsay headquarters is: "We are ready for the fight to-night, tomorrow or next week, whenever they will give us a chance. Our only interest is to save the State $1,000 a day that is being unnecessarily wasted."

At the residence of Mr. A. P. Styles, the bride's father, in the Sixth ward, Mr. John B. Shaw and Miss Fredie Styles were united in marriage last evening in the presence of a number of witnesses, Rev. R. G. Patrick officiating. The newly married couple left on the F. F. They have the best wishes of their many friends.

DAN RICE.

Living in New York Where He Spends His Leisure Hours in Real Estate Speculations.

New York World: "Dan Rice is the oldest living clown in the world. Up to two years ago William Henry Waller was the oldest ring jester. Waller died in East Nottingham, England, two years ago, at the age of eighty-four. He had appeared in the ring almost without interruption for nearly half a century. He was eighty-two when he last wore his ring costume. Daniel Rice, who will be seventy years old next Saturday, lives in quiet luxury at No. 447 West Twenty-first street.

"The Queen's Jester," as Waller was called, played first as an actor in 1850. As a mimic in England he was considered a success. He made his American debut the same year in a building then erected for circus performances on Astor place. It was then that he met Rice, and the greatest two clowns combined their interests in one show, the two taking alternate parts in the ring—Rice as clown and Waller as ringmaster, and vice versa. The two traveled throughout the United States and Europe.

"Waller," said Dan Rice recently, "while the most entertaining of men socially, while in the ring could neither leap, tumble, vault, dance nor sing. His great grip was with his mother wit and imitation of the old-time King's jester. He was billed, however, as the Queen's jester. His death leaves me the oldest legitimate Shakespearian clown living."

"Dan Rice played first as clown in 1844 in Galena, Ill., the home of General Grant. His fame spread rapidly, and he amassed and spent several fortunes. He did not retire from the ring until 1882, appearing last in San Francisco.

"Of the most important incidents in his career he alludes to a ring performance at Philadelphia, in 1860, at the Walnut Street Theatre, which he owned. The medical students of the city had expressed their sympathy with the South and Rice sent invitations to 200 of them to attend the show one night. The students were severely lectured by Rice, who was an ardent admirer of the North in its struggle to put down slavery, and he harangued the students while in the ring. The students left the theatre in a body, denouncing Rice for his speech. The clown was afterwards warmly commended for his utterances by A. J. Curtin, afterwards Governor of Pennsylvania, and Colonel J. W. Forney.

"I realize the fact that I will sooner or later be no more," said Mr. Rice, "and I have made repeated efforts to have my life properly written. I gave the data to Fred Hunt to compile five years ago, but he died while engaged in the work. Then Marvin R. Clark took it up, but he became blind and had to give it up. James Redpath was next to tackle it, but while engaged in the work he was run over and sustained a fracture of the leg. He died during an operation in consequence of that injury. Other men undertook to finish the job, but they had to desist for various reasons. John Paul Bocock is at work on it now, and if he lives I expect to have the book out in March."

"The history of Dan Rice is as full of startling incident, instructive fact and melo-dramatic point as the most ardent lover of romance could wish it to be; while his tone of thought and action which his history develops exhibits a mind, heart and purpose combined of rare elements. A reckless self-will which has ever marked his career in life caused him at a very early age to leave the parental roof and become a cosmopolite before he could have received an impress of education or formed any stable habits of thought. And thus at a period of life when association was more likely to give bias to action and impress its own features upon the character, he threw himself upon the cold ocean of the world, without beacon light or guiding star to direct his pathway, the sport of accident, the nursling of fate. If he had his life to live over again, he says, he would not have it different."

"Mr. Rice says he has been married three times, and has children and grandchildren scattered all over the world. All his relatives are directly or indirectly connected with the stage or ring. His last marriage was contracted with a rich Texan ranch-owner, who is now in Europe."

"The retired clown is employing his leisure hours in real estate speculation. He scarcely looks seventy years old. He has a ruddy look, strong voice and moves with a grace and freedom remarkable in one who has passed through many hardships."

"ANOTHER WASTED DAY."

Nothing Done in Either Branch of the National Legislature.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Filibustering against the bankruptcy bill was inaugurated yesterday by Mr. Kilgore, Democrat, of Texas. In the first place, he insisted on the reading of the journal in full. Then he objected to the approval of that document, and an hour was consumed before it was finally agreed to as a portion of the records of the house which are accepted by the courts as binding evidence of the proceedings of congress. And again he brought his dilatory tactics into effect. He was seconded in his endeavor to defeat the bankruptcy bill by Mr. Pierce, of Tennessee, who supplemented his every filibustering motion with another which was calculated to prevent action, and the filibustering continued. "Another wasted day" was the comment of the Republicans, and their comments were echoed by a majority of the Democrats. But the few Democrats opposed to the bankruptcy measure held firm, and the house adjourned without action, thus exhausting the two days assigned to the judiciary committee and the bankruptcy bill.

Neither the anti-options bill nor the Cherokee outlet bill, which have the alternate right of way in the senate had any show of consideration yesterday. The hour of the session was taken up in routine matters, none of them entitled to be regarded as of much public interest. The only exceptions were the introduction of a bill for the admission of Utah as a state, and an amendment reported from the committee on naval affairs and referred to the committee on appropriations, looking to a further increase of the navy by one battleship, two armored coast defense vessels, ten gunboats and eight torpedo boats. The rest of the day's session from 1 o'clock up to adjournment passed behind closed doors, and was devoted to the question of whether the nomination of Mr. McComas as one of the judges of the supreme court of the District of Columbia should be or not confirmed.

Executive Session of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—For the first time this session there was a protracted struggle in the executive session of the senate over a presidential nomination—that of Louis McComas, ex-secretary of the national Republican committee to associate justice of the District of Columbia supreme court. The opposition to the nominee in the senate was based almost entirely upon the ground that Mr. McComas was not a resident of the District. The Republicans replied to the Democrats on this point by referring to the precedents set by Mr. Cleveland in his district and territorial appointments. When it came to a vote there was no attempt to filibuster and the result was decisive, the vote standing 38 for confirmation to 13 for the opposition. Because of a failure to adopt the usual resolution notifying the president of the confirmation, the result was not formally announced at the conclusion of the session.

The senate, while in executive session, confirmed the nomination of Elijah W. Halford to be major and paymaster in the United States army.

He Was a Cigarette Fiend.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 26.—Tuesday evening Frank Henschel, a clerk in the commission house of Schreiner, Flack & Company, shot and probably fatally wounded his sweetheart, Miss Alice Bruce, at her home in the southern part of the city. A little later, the police, while looking for the would-be murderer, found his dead body in an alley two blocks west of the scene of his first bloody work. Henschel was twenty-three years old, and so far as is known had no cause for a quarrel with Miss Bruce. Friends, therefore, knowing him to be a slave to the cigarette, are of the opinion that he committed his bloody work while crazed by the effects of this habit.

New Air Line to Be Built.

PORLTAND, Ind., Jan. 26.—The much-talked-of Cincinnati, Union City and Chicago railroad project has revived, and now promises to be a sure go. This road is to be built from Union City to Huntington, and with the connecting lines, will form an air line from the Windy City to Cincinnati. A meeting was held here last night, at which G. C. Fawcett, of Louisville, was present, and it was there stated that the right of way was all the new company asks, and that it was wanted as soon as possible, in order to commence work. The new railroad is to pass through Camden and other places which have no road.

Making the Shortage Good.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 26.—Building and Loan Association Inspector Cellarius has returned from Nelsonville, where he went to investigate the irregularities of R. W. Hanson, the absconding secretary of the Nelsonville Home and Savings association. His report shows many irregularities in the management of the concern. The total shortage of the secretary is $8,666.47. The wife of Secretary Hanson has made a deed of trust for $5,000, and his bondsmen are liable for $2,000, so that the depositors will not lose anything.

Financial Crisis.

PANAMA, Jan. 26.—A financial crisis is imminent in Nicaragua. Banks in Greytown, Rivas, Massaya and Chinandega have closed their doors. The bank at Nicaragua is in process of liquidation.

Base Ball Rumor.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 26.—It is ascertained here that Indianapolis will succeed Louisville in the National base ball league and that John T. Brush will be the head of the local management. Mr. Brush when seen would not say that Louisville was going to drop out, but did say that if Louisville decided to drop out he and others stood ready to bid for and take the franchise.

Fixing Up a Cabinet.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Jan. 26.—President-elect Cleveland and ex-Secretary Bayard sat up until a late hour Tuesday night, and resumed their consultation yesterday. It is believed here that Mr. Harry is positively booked for the postmaster generalship. Mr. E. C. Wall, of Wisconsin, will, it is said, be tendered the secretaryship of the interior.
